

By IPdigIT, 8 September 2010

What is IPdigIT?

IPdigIT is a blog about Intellectual Property (IP), the digital economy (DIGIT) and Information Technology (IT). It aims at discussing the law and economics of innovation ('Dig it!'). It is fed by a team of academics and practitioners, and serves to share our reflections and to interact with students. The site is bilingual: contributions are written in English or in French. New contributors are welcome!