Innovation as a business: more than creativity

NEW: Watch the executive summary

Voir la vidéo

Innovation means much more than invention. Managing innovation means managing both newness and change, and the latter often matters the most.

(c) Prof. Benoît Gailly, Cassaio School of Management

Newness is relative. What is today new (and valuable) to some manager, their organization or their environment might not be to others.

Innovation is about changing people's perceptions and realities, combining many small steps and a few big bets
